FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1904.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

3,235

The physician has his special call today.

Fie! Race suicide in Barre! The public school attendance for the present fall term is an increase of five cent over that of the year previous.

The Times is pleased to note that the union Thanksgiving service, the heritage of generations, was not forgotten in Barre yesterday and that more people than customary in years past attended.

An awful carnage and slaughter is reported all over the country and the dead and dying lay in countless numbers. Those that survived are cackling, crowing and gobbling as if nothing had happened.

A new floating fort, with the speed of a greyhound, takes its place in the navy of the United States. May this "queen of the navy" never be called upon to pour shot and shell into an enemy's vessel and may she, too, never receive the shot and shell from an enemy's guns.

UNANNOUNCED VISITS.

The ways and methods of this special investigating committee appointed by the present legislature to examine state institutions are beyond all precedent in Vermont. All the hide-bound methods are scattered to the four winds. A new system of investigation—and a most commendable one—has taken their place. We believe that the state institutions are being really examined, and without any whitewash at that. For instance, here is one illustration. The members of the committee wished to inspect the various institutions in person. They did inspect them and they did not send on any we-are-coming-to-prepare-for-us notification. Their visits were unheralded and the committee was not announced until it had reached the doors of the institutions. Some people may call it employing a mean subterfuge to thus unexpectedly swoop down, unannounced; but there is no better way to learn the real state of affairs than to make the unexpected visit. The thrifty housewife takes extra precautions, before the arrival of critical visitors, to place her house in the best appearance possible. Likewise, the manager or superintendent of a state institution, no matter how conscientious, will make unusual efforts to see that his institution is particularly ship shape at the time of the expected visit of his board of examiners. He can scarcely be blamed for it, no more than the housewife who takes pride in having as little as possible about her house to be criticized. So we say that the best way to judge of an officer's stewardship is to make the unannounced inspection. We know nothing of this week's visit of the investigating committee to the state prison and house of correction, other than that the committee's appearance is said to have been a surprise. But there is no reason to believe that affairs were found to be in any but a satisfactory condition. A full and detailed account of these visits and of the results of the committee's previous investigation may be expected in the report which will be presented to the legislature, probably next week.

CURRENT COMMENT.

What the Press of the State and Country Is Talking About.

For obvious reasons. Nobody but John could think John's thoughts, nobody but he could say things as John says 'em, and John isn't and couldn't be a Republican.—Randolph Herald and News.

We are more than surprised that the legislature showed hostility to an increased salary for the state superintendent of education, and are at a loss to account for it, especially opposition to such a moderate increase. Economy in these times is highly commendable, but when it exercises itself upon the most beneficial of our state institutions, it seems to us to be saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung.—Essex County Herald.

Rutland may well learn a lesson from Barre, the most progressive and best satisfied city in the state. When any measure of public importance comes before that city, two or three men do not hide it up their sleeves and try to put it through by stealth. They call a meeting of the manufacturers' organization, the business men's organization, the labor organization and the representatives of the city government, and there discuss it in all its features, and when they have decided what they want they bring the concerted action of all of these interests to bear and it goes through. Suppose Rutland should try this method for a while, perhaps something could be accomplished for her good. It is certain that no harm could be done.—Vermont Union Signal.

Tail Went With The Hide.

A large number of Republicans who were pulled through by President Roosevelt's popularity will make the error, of course, of imagining that their own popularity saved them.—Kansas City Star.

Iowa Poultry.

"Few Iowa people realize the importance of the poultry interest in this state," said James Atkinson, editor of the Homestead, upon his return from a farmers' institute and corn contest recently held in Union county. "This was forcibly impressed upon my mind while in conversation with the manager of an extensive poultry feeding establishment that operates in the southern part of the state. At present 25,000 fowls are being fed for the Eastern markets by this one firm. This company has realized as high as twenty-two cents a pound for Iowa poultry on the New York market, at a time when ordinary poultry was selling for thirteen and fourteen cents. The value of the poultry on the farms of Iowa amounts to more than $10,000,000, while the eggs produced in a single year have a valuation of more than one hundred percent on the total amount invested in poultry, saying nothing of the meats that are marketed in addition.—Des Moines Register.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Not Necessary.

Mother—I understand Mr. Huggard is to call upon you again this evening?
Ethel—Of course, mamma. We're engaged.
Mother—What! Didn't I tell you not to give that young man any encouragement at all?
Ethel—Yes, mamma, but he didn't need any encouragement.—Philadelphia Press.

PRESIDENT'S TRIP TO ST. LOUIS.

He Left at Midnight Last Night in a Special Train.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The President left here last night at midnight for St. Louis, where he will visit the exposition. He travels on a special train on the Pennsylvania road, and is accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York and Secretary Loeb.

The party will arrive in St. Louis early Saturday morning, and the President will spend the day in seeing the principal sights of the fair. He will be entertained at a banquet in the evening and will make a speech. The President will spend Sunday quietly, starting on the return trip late in the evening and arriving here at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning.

A FAKE FIGHT.

Pugilistic Fiasco in Philadelphia Between Ryan and Root.

Philadelphia, Nov. 23.—The fight between Tommy Ryan, the middleweight champion, and Jack Root of Chicago, the light-heavyweight, which was scheduled to go six rounds at the National Athletic club tonight, was ended in the middle of the fourth round by the referee, Jack McGuigan, pronouncing the fight a fake. It was one of the most unsatisfactory pugilistic affairs ever held here, and the spectators, long before the referee stopped the bout, showed their disapproval. Trouble was averted by the prompt work of the police in jumping into the ring and protecting the fighters and in clearing the hall. The managers of both fighters vehemently protested against the action of the referee, but they found few sympathizers in the crowd.

DIVORCE FOR LAUGHING.

Wife Says Husband Is Continually Waking Her Up.

Paterson, N. J., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Henrietta Forler of Hawthorne borough, has retained Lawyer Richard Randall to bring suit for divorce against her husband, Jacob Forler, a plumber of Newark, on the ground of cruelty, it is alleged. Mrs. Forler alleged her husband is good natured and kind, but has a peculiar habit, which has made her a nervous wreck. She says that during the night her husband will awake frequently and give way to hearty roars of laughter and thus continually awaken her.

He laughs for five minutes at a time, she alleges, and says he cannot stop. His wife has offered to sleep elsewhere, but he refuses to let her. Mrs. Forler is 28 years old and the husband is 31.

MAJOR DELMAR SOLD.

Famous Trotting Gelding Was Sold For $15,000 Yesterday.

New York, Nov. 25.—Major Delmar, the world's champion trotting gelding, with an unpaired trotting record of 2:01½ and a paced trotting record of 1:59¾, was sold at the Old Glory sale at the Madison Square Garden yesterday for $15,000. The purchaser was C. K. G. Billings, owner of Lou Dillon. It was announced that Mr. Billings would race Delmar and Lou Dillon in an effort to break the world's record.

Major Delmar was consigned by E. Smathers, who bought him last year for $40,000.

WOULD NOT ARBITRATE.

Peace Move in Cattle Butchers' Strike in Chicago Failed.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—A move for peace by the state board of arbitration in the strike of the cattle butchers in the plants of the Hammond Packing company, failed today. No move by the unions in the threatened general strike at the stock yards is expected for a day or two at least. Power has been given to President Donnelly of the Butchers' union to call this strike, but he declined to disclose his plans.

Programme for "Winter Picnic."

The ladies of the Universalist society will be pleased to see their many friends next Tuesday evening at the opening of the "Winter Picnic" held in the church vestry. They are prepared to entertain their guests with a chicken pie supper served between the hours of 5 and 8 followed by an unusually attractive musical entertainment given by Miss Alice Averill, Miss Walker, Miss Richmond, Mr. Sheriffs, Dr. Leonard, cornetist, and Miss Grace Brown, reader.

Knowing that many will want to attend the picnic more than once, entertainments are being prepared for Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Mrs. Edith Britain has charge of the programme for Wednesday evening, and the principal feature of this is a Japanese drill by several young ladies. Thursday evening the one act comedy, "His Lucky Day," will be given by Miss Alice Averill, J. Ward Carver, and Dr. E. M. Lynde.
